INTERNATIONAL NIGHT PLANNED AT UNIVERSITY OF LOWELL

4/11/79
102-1

Lowell, Mass. - The festive 8th annual International Night, representing students from more than 20 countries, will be held at the University of Lowell, Wednesday, April 18, at 7:00 P.M.

Presented by the International Student Circle at the campus, the cultural evening features entertainment, displays of artifacts and handicrafts, and foods from the various nations. Students attired in national dress will perform traditional songs and dances.

Authentic Persian rugs, ancient parchments, exhibits of Chinese calligraphy, and musical instruments are part of the extensive historical display.

The event, free and open to the public, begins at 7:00 P.M. in Cumnock Hall, on University Avenue, Lowell.

"The members of the International Student Circle, having learned about the United States, organized this event to share their cultures and customs with the people of this country," according to Associate Dean of Students, James S. Donohue.

Among the countries participating are Japan, Jamaica, Portugal, Greece, Venezuela, Iran, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Morocco, Iraq, Syria, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, Columbia, Ghana, Rhodesia, Cameroon, China, Vietnam, as well as the Armenian Student Association and Moslem Student group.

Student organizers for the event are Chris C. Tagoe of Ghana, Philip Maia of Portugal, Heather Pratt of Japan, and Jamal Bahloul of Lebanon.
